I am writing to apply for the IT Support Intern position at Achieve Without Borders, Inc. I am currently a Bachelor of Science in Information Technology student at PHINMA Araullo University – South. I am interested in this opportunity because I want to gain real experience in the IT field and learn how the things I study in school are used in an actual workplace.

As an IT student, I have learned basic programming, computer hardware and software, networking, troubleshooting, and the use of different computer applications. I have also participated in school projects and group activities that helped me improve my communication, teamwork, and time management skills. These experiences taught me how to handle responsibilities and work with others to complete a task.

I would like to improve my skills in troubleshooting, computer setup, software installation, and other IT-related responsibilities. I know that I still have a lot to learn, but I am willing to ask questions, accept feedback, and learn from my mistakes.

Information Literacy Check – CABC

Credibility: I found the job information through AWB's employer listings and verified the company through its LinkedIn profile.

Accuracy: I checked that the IT Support Intern position and company information are consistent across the available job and company profiles.

Bias: The job posting is intended to attract applicants, so it may present the opportunity from the employer's perspective.

Currency: The IT Support Intern position was recently listed, so I used the current job information available when preparing my portfolio.

PROCESS & INTEGRITY NOTE

I searched for an IT internship that matched my course and the skills I am currently learning. I found an IT Support Intern opportunity from Achieve Without Borders, Inc. through Indeed. Before using the information, I also checked the company's official website to make sure that the company and the job details were reliable and relevant.

For the application, I used AI as a support tool mainly for organizing my ideas, improving some sentences, and checking the wording. I did not simply copy everything generated by AI. I reviewed the content and changed parts of it so that it would match my own experience, skills, and way of expressing myself.

I also made sure not to include private information such as passwords, bank details, or other unnecessary personal information. For the design, I chose a clean and simple layout because I wanted the resume and cover letter to be easy to read while still looking professional.

I made sure that the information in my portfolio was truthful and based on what I have actually learned and experienced as an IT student.
